

We believe in sustainability.

For the environment. For our business. For all of us.

Office Depot® is built on the company-wide belief that sustainability plays an essential role in the financial stability of our company, our industry...and our communities.

We utilize a “triple bottom line” approach as the framework for our sustainability initiatives: Planet (environmental), People (social) and Prosperity (economic). While the environmental and social aspects help us lower emissions, capture our community impacts, and quantify many other metrics, they ultimately impact our financial system by creating greater business value.

PLANET

From our patented GreenerOffice™ Rating System to our GreenerOffice™ Delivery Service to planting trees in our communities, we have a variety of programs and initiatives in place to help us limit waste, conserve energy and reduce our environmental footprint ...and we're focused on helping our customers do the same.

PEOPLE

In 2018, we proudly launched a new community investment initiative called #depotdifference, which brings an employee-centric, hands-on approach to empower us all to make a difference through robust employee volunteerism and philanthropic giving.

#depotdifference
Office Depot OfficeMax

PROSPERITY

We're committed to creating a diverse, inclusive environment internally and externally, where all people are valued and respected. Just as environmental sustainability helps protect our planet, Supplier Diversity helps protect our economy. And together, they enable prosperity and help drive long-term success.

Our Purpose

As a company of our size and scope, we have an enormous opportunity to provide positive impacts through our customers' actions as well as our own. That's why we've dedicated energy and resources over the last 30+ years toward being as socially, economically and environmentally responsible as we can be.

It's about doing the right thing – for our shared planet, our valuable communities, and the future of how we service and support our customers.

Office DEPOT®

Our Sustainability Commitment

We believe in sustainability.

For the environment. For our business. For all of us.

Office Depot® is built on the company-wide belief that sustainability plays an essential role in the financial stability of our company, our industry... and our communities.

We utilize a “triple bottom line” approach as the framework for our sustainability initiatives: Planet (environmental), People (social) and Prosperity (economic). While the environmental and social aspects help us lower emissions, capture our community impacts, and quantify many other metrics, they ultimately impact our financial system by creating greater business value.

PLANET

From our patented GreenerOffice™ Rating System to our GreenerOffice™ Delivery Service to planting trees in our communities, we have a variety of programs and initiatives in place to help us limit waste, conserve energy and reduce our environmental footprint ... and we're focused on helping our customers do the same.

PEOPLE

In 2018, we proudly launched a new community investment initiative called #depotdifference, which intends to bring an employee-centric, hands-on approach to empower us all to make a difference through robust employee volunteerism and philanthropic giving. See how we're helping our communities at depotdifference.com.

PROSPERITY

We're committed to creating a diverse, inclusive environment internally and externally, where all people are valued and respected. Just as environmental sustainability helps protect our planet, Supplier Diversity helps protect our economy. And together, they enable prosperity and help drive long-term success.

OUR PURPOSE

As a company of our size and scope, we have an enormous opportunity to provide positive impacts through our customers' actions as well as our own. That's why we've dedicated energy and resources over the last 30+ years toward being as socially, economically and environmentally responsible as we can be.

It's about doing the right thing – for our shared planet, our valuable communities, and the future of how we service and support our customers.

Our Sustainability
Commitment